Ms. Marla Gupton Coleman
Mechanicsville, Virginia

Louisburg native Ms. Marla Gupton Coleman is a 1962 graduate of Louisburg College, where her love for learning was instilled in her by the late Dr. C. Ray Pruette, longtime professor of chemistry and physics; Ms. Coleman’s husband also attended the College. Ms. Coleman continued her education at UNC-Chapel Hill and East Carolina University. Now a retired educator, she has been heavily involved in the Henrico North Rotary Club serving as a charter member, president, and Paul Harris Fellow. Ms. Coleman is a member of the Oil Painters of America, Virginia Historical Society, James River Art League, and is the founder of the Virginia Plein Air Painters. She resides in Mechanicsville, V.A. and is the proud mother of two daughters, both of whom are dentists.